

MidWeek

Bank Of Hawaii Supports Foodbank

February 16, 2011
By Midweek Staff

Bank Of Hawaii Supports Foodbank

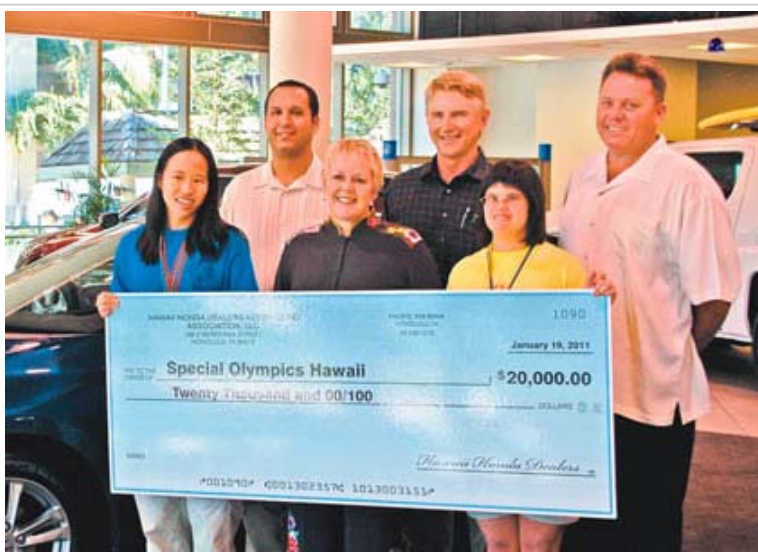

Lori Honda, (left) Bank of Hawaii assistant vice president of Business Banking, presented Dick Grimm, (right) Hawaii Foodbank president, with a donation of $84,860. The donation is from Bank of Hawaii employee designations from its Employee Giving Campaign. The Hawaii Foodbank donation is part of the $1 million contribution from Bank of Hawaii employees, which includes matching funds from the bank. Mahalo to the employees of Bank of Hawaii for giving generously and "Making a Difference" in our communities.

A Garden For KCAA Preschool

The Interface Environmental Foundation awarded KCAA Laura Morgan Preschool with a sustainability grant of $1,000 to create the Keiki Malama Garden, a sustainable living garden that will incorporate fertilizer generated by the preschool's existing organic worm vermicast project. Pictured (from left) are Marlo Ogata, KCAA parent; Christina Cox, KCAA president; Wade Mukai, Interface representative; and Kelly Kurakake, KCAA Laura Morgan Center director.

Special Olympics Receives $20,000

Special Olympics Hawai'i received a $20,000 Gift from Hawai'i Honda Dealers Association. The local nonprofit received the most votes in the Hawai'i Honda Dealer Association's "The Power of Your Gift" campaign, which received more than 7,000 votes. (front, from left) Jennifer Wong (athlete, bowling and power lifting); Nancy Bottelo, president and CEO Special Olympics Hawaii; Stephanie Zane (athlete, swimming and softball), (back, from left) Michael Stoebner, general manager, Windward Honda; John Shreve, president, Hawaii Honda Dealers Association and general manager Pflueger Honda; and Ron Wright, general sales manager, Tony Honda.

Find this article at: http://www.midweek.com/contentbank_of_hawaii_supports_foodbank/